To Whom It May Concern:

Robbi K woke up our Saturday Mornings For Kids audience better than fresh, hot coffee and cinnamon buns!

This series is aimed at our young audiences and families. BUT, I am also recommending this for young school audiences. The band was absolutely high quality professionals, each representing a different culture and musical background. They told a little about their culture, had us clap or sing along to one of their country's songs, and created a 'world family' with all of us!

Robbi K's enthusiasm was well paced and no one could resist her warm smile and loving heart when she brought us together.

You'll be transformed!
