

Between The Lines With You

words & music by John Dandrea

Ohhh I know how different we are I know how men are from mars and you think I'm blind - cause you're not in my mind
You can be clear sometimes then I read between the lines and I just have to smile - cause you make it worthwhile

and I don't have to guess what's on your mind
I know I can count on you each time
I never need to read between the lines with you Ohhhh - never need to read between the lines with you.

Ohhh I know how different we are I'm blessed we've made it this far and we're on the right path - oh, you do make me laugh
You can be clear sometimes
then I read between the lines
and I just have to smile - cause you make it worthwhile

and I don't have to guess what's on your mind
I know I can count on you each time
I never need to read between the lines with you
Ohhhh - never need to read between the lines with you.
