

If You're Looking For Magic

words & music:
John Dandrea

If you're looking for magic,
if it's gone from your eyes if you're losing perspective, my friend well try some of mine
'cause it don't really matter at all at least at this point in time you're got a long road ahead of you so hold onto your mind.

try living a simple life, try living for your dreams try looking for happiness it's not as hard, as it all seems.

Seems like I've told you before, such a long time ago you can't really change their minds, so just let it go if clouds cover your mem'ry and your heart's feeling blue take a look at the brighter side try another point of view.

If you're looking for magic if your world has grown cold and you feel like you're so confused and you're growing old well take a look right in front of you I'm not far away and as the colors flash in your eyes hear the magic I play.