

Watching Over Me

words & music by John Dandrea

*And if I have to go away, there won't be words to say how much I'll miss you near but all I do is close my eyes and think of you and suddenly you're here watching over me, keep watching over me reaching out across the miles,
watching over me.*

*And if I need someone to hold, when the night is turning cold when there just isn't anyone the memories of you and I will keep me warm and I can feel you here
watching over me, keep watching over me
reaching out across the miles,
watching over me.*

*And if our destinies collide and you're back here by my side as it was meant to be I wouldn't have to be afraid to face the years I'd always know you're here
reaching out across the miles,
watching over me.*
