

The Energy of Time

Discover the Art and Practice of Time Mastery

The Persistence of Memory, Salvador Dali (detail)

“Newsflash - Time May Not Exist:
Not to mention the question of which way it goes...”
Discover Magazine, June, 2007

“People like us, who believe in physics, know that the distinction between past, present, and future is only a stubbornly persistent illusion.” Einstein

“Time is on my side. Yes it is.” The Rolling Stones

Step Outside of Time and Into Your Power

In this four week course, explore the three levels of time consciousness that will allow you to develop a new paradigm of time and become the master of your own universe:

- Physical: Time as social currency. How do you value and experience time? Learn simple techniques to shift your “real world” attention from time management to time mastery.
- Mental: Time as perception. Find out how the human mind is a time machine. Tap into the power of thought as energy, and transform your limiting beliefs about time.
- Spiritual: Time as truth. See how new scientific discoveries about time support unity consciousness. Learn about the momentum tunnel, and how you can step outside of time to change the course of your future.

At this workshop, you’ll expand your awareness and perceptions of time. You’ll learn practical methods to master time in your everyday world, and ways to create new possibilities for your life by stepping outside of time. If you want time “on your side,” this course will open you to the art and practice of time mastery.

Jim and Jennifer Kinney co-facilitate workshops at the Santa Fe Harmony Center designed to help people unlock their potential, understand and express themselves better, and manifest their desires. They consider themselves “human potential” practitioners, providing experiential approaches to healing and personal growth for over 20 years, using methods from transformational coaching, indigenous cultures, western psychology, best business practices, neuro-linguistic programming, music, drum circles, and a variety of spiritual practices.
