4 stars

If very clean, very neat bluesey, southerny rock is your deal, then hold on to your minivan, have I ever got a band for you. Marwood's debut is a vastly impressive one. A beautifully engineered record that could easily pass as the newest Cowboy Mouth disc, Marwood's songs are exhaustingly likable and beautifully and tidily performed. Pretty melodies and kind lyrics top off this promising presentation to what is obviously a band not to be trifled with. Nothing outside the lines on the album, but no bullshit either.
