REFERENCES

I am writing to offer my endorsement of the ministry of Resurrection Quartet. Resurrection Quartet has ministered at our church on several occasions. In my estimation, they possess the key ingredients to be a successful group - integrity, chemistry, and talent. These are not merely four voices whose desire is to make a name for themselves, their most sincere desire is to please the Lord with their service. If you're simply looking to be entertained, you'll get more than you bargained. In addition to their love and passion for Southern Gospel music, each member brings a tremendous testimony which is intertwined in their overall message. More than musicality, their focus is ministry and the message of the Gospel. Even though Resurrection Quartet is a new group who is constantly honing and developing their skills, you'll be blessed by their ministry. I encourage you to extend to them an open door.

Jeff Person, Pastor - Benson Church of God, Benson, NC

These Christian gentlemen are diligent in spreading the wonderful message of the saving grace of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Their dedication to this cause by song has been an inspiration to many in the community. They were recently a part of our Sunday morning service at the Smithfield Advent Christian Church. The quartet is not seeking personal recognition or gain; they are simply trying to be a personal witness to those they come in contact with. Their goal of carrying the message of Jesus Christ is an example that we should all follow in advancing the cause of Jesus Christ to a lost and dying world. Should the opportunity present itself at your church, I believe that the Resurrection Quartet will be an inspiration to your congregation.

Rev. Michael R. Tart, Pastor - Smithfield Advent Christian Church, Smithfield, NC

Resurrection Quartet sang for our worship service recently and before they left that morning, we'd already booked them for a return engagement. If you're looking for flash and glitz, they're not your group, If, however, you're looking for a smooth sound with tight harmonies that point people not to themselves but to Jesus, you won't be disappointed with Resurrection Quartet.

Dr. Vern Peterson, Pastor - First Baptist Church, Denton, NC

Resurrection Quartet is a group that is very spiritual and live a Christian life. They present a quality program of songs that bless people by relating with everyday life. Like the songs they sing, they are a group of gentlemen that will touch the lives of your congregation.

Troy Lee, Associate Pastor - Everett Chapel Church, Clayton, NC
