

Take It As It Comes

by Scott Seabock

I used to live in the fast lane, man I thought I had it so good
I knew exactly where I was going , and I was getting there as fast as I could
But there were too many heartaches and too many tears When life would never seem to go my way
I was working hard to find my place in the sun Only to see my skies turning grey...that's ok 'cause now I

Take it as it comes....ride the river where it flows Where tomorrow will find meheaven only knows
I'm getting tired of making plans....that never come to pass
So
I'm going to live it up today....'cause today may be the last
No more searching for a pot of gold Somewhere in the future at the rainbows end
Instead I found the treasure of a satisfied soul when I Take it as it comes

Now let me tell you 'bout my woman, who as the saying goes Is trying to make me an honest man She's always talking 'bout our future together But
to me it sounds like castles in the sand I told her, looking too far down the road ahead can put a man right out of his mind I said baby ,you know I want you...girl I love you But I can only do it one day at a time...that's why I

Take it as it comes....ride the river where it flows Where tomorrow will find meheaven only knows I'm getting tired of making plans....that never come to pass

So I'm going to live it up today....'cause today may be the last
And since life holds no guarantees We're here and gone like a passing summer day
There's only one thing to put my mind at ease....
Take it as it

Whatever kind of hand life may deal, I've got a wildcard I can use
'Cause now I know though everyday's just a luck of the draw There ain't no way I can lose if I choose to Take it as it comes....ride the river where it flows

Where tomorrow will find meheaven only knows I'm getting tired of making plans....that never come to pass So I'm going to live it up today....'cause today may be the last
